The Fullerenes-H.W. Kroto 2012-12-02 Until recently, the element carbon was believed to exhibit only two main allotropic forms, diamond and graphite. Research in the US and Europe has now confirmed the existence of a third previously unknown form - buckminsterfullerene (C60) and its relatives, the fullerenes (C24, C28, C32, C70 etc). The story of fullerene chemistry, physics and materials science began in 1985, almost twenty years after the existence of a spherical carbon cluster was first considered. In September 1985 a joint Sussex/Rice Universities team including Kroto, Heath, O'Brien, Curl and Smalley used a powerful mass spectrometric technique to identify the C+60 species, and proposed a spherical structure and the name buckminsterfullerene. It was not, however, until Krätschmer and Huffman reported the isolation of crystals of C60 in 1990 that the closed cage structure of C60 could be confirmed. The Fullerenes documents the work leading up to 1990 and more recent developments in the field of fullerene research and will serve as an indispensable reference tool for all workers in this area.

Theoretical Computer Science: Exploring New Frontiers of Theoretical Informatics-International Conference IFIP TCS 2000 2000-07-26 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the International Conference IFIP TCS 2000 held in Sendai, Japan in August 2000. Logic-Based Program Synthesis and Transformation-Danny De Schreye 2010-04-20 This volume contains a selection of the papers presented at the 19th International Symposium on Logic-Based Program Synthesis and Transformation (LOPSTR 2009) held September 9-11, 2009 in Coimbra, Portugal. Information about the conference can be found at <http://www.cs.kuleuven.be/conference/lopstr09+>. Previous LOPSTR symposia were held in Valencia (2008), Lyngby (2007), Venice (2006 and 1999), London (2005 and 2000), Verona (2004), U-sala (2003), Madrid (2002), Paphos (2001), Manchester (1998, 1992, and 1991), Leuven (1997), Stockholm (1996), Arnhem (1995), Pisa (1994), and Louvain-la-Neuve (1993). The aim of the LOPSTR series is to stimulate and promote international research and collaboration on logic-based program development. LOPSTR additionally solicits papers in the areas of specification, synthesis, verification, transformation, analysis, optimization, composition, security, reuse, applications and tools, component-based software development, software architectures, age-based software development, and program re-ment. LOPSTR has a reputation for being a lively, friendly forum for presenting and discussing work in progress. Formal proceedings are produced only after the symposium so that authors can incorporate any feedback in the published papers.

I would like to thank all those who submitted contributions to LOPSTR in the categories of full papers and extended abstracts. Each submission was reviewed by at least three Program Committee members. The committee decided to accept three full papers for immediate inclusion in the final proceedings, and ten papers were accepted after revision and another round of reviewing. In addition to the accepted papers, the program also included an invited talk by Germán Vidal (Technical University of Valencia). I am grateful to the Program Committee members who worked hard to produce high-quality reviews for the submitted papers in a tight schedule, as well as all the external reviewers involved in the paper selection. I also would like to thank Andrei Voronkov for his excellent EasyChair system that automates many of the tasks involved in chairing a conference. LOPSTR 2009 was co-located with PPDP 2009 and CSL 2009. Many thanks to the local organizers of these events, in particular, to Ana Almeida, the LOPSTR 2009 Local Organization Chair. January 2010

Multivariable Calculus (Paper)-Jon Rogawski 2007-06-22 The multivariable version of Rogawski's new text presents calculus with solid mathematical precision but with an everyday sensibility that puts the main concepts in clear terms. It is rigorous without being inaccessible and clear without being too informal--it has the perfect balance for instructors and their students.

Geometric Methods in the Elastic Theory of Membranes in Liquid Crystal Phases-Zhong-Can Ou-Yang 1999 This book contains a comprehensive description of the mechanical equilibrium and deformation of membranes as a surface problem in differential geometry. Following the pioneering work by W Helfrich, the fluid membrane is seen as a nematic or smectic ? A liquid crystal film and its elastic energy form is deduced exactly from the curvature elastic theory of the liquid crystals. With surface variation the minimization of the energy at fixed osmotical pressure and surface tension gives a completely new surface equation in geometry that involves potential interest in mathematics. The investigations of the rigorous solution of the equation that have been carried out in recent years by the authors and their co-workers are presented here, among which the torus and the discocyte (the normal shape of the human red blood cell) may attract attention in cell biology. Within the framework of our mathematical model by analogy with cholesteric liquid crystals, an extensive investigation is made of the formation of the helical structures in a tilted chiral lipid bilayer, which has now become a hot topic in the fields of soft matter and biomembranes.

Terrae-filius, Or, The Secret History of the University of Oxford, 1721-1726-Nicholas Amhurst 2004 Although Amhurst was often dismissed by nineteenth-century historians of Oxford as a bitter "slanderer of his university," his work stands as the single most important and reliable contemporarily published account of life in early eighteenth-century Oxford. The Terrae-Filius essays, despite their satirical bent, also demonstrate that Amhurst had a deep respect for the institution and a clear vision of the intellectual ideas it should embody. This modern critical edition reprints all fifty-three Terrae-Filius essays (including the three omitted from the 1726 collected editions) and provides an introduction and extensive explanatory notes that set the essays in their historical and cultural context."--BOOK JACKET.

Algebraic Geometry-Peter E. Newstead 1998-07-31 Presents a compendium of papers selected from the Europroj conferences held in Catania and Barcelona. The text contains research in algebraic geometry with emphasis on classification problems, and in particular studies on the structure of moduli spaces of vector bundles, and on the classification of curves and surfaces.

Collected Papers-Bertram Kostant 2009-08-15 For more than five decades Bertram Kostant has been one of the major architects of modern Lie theory. Virtually all his papers are pioneering with deep consequences, many giving rise to whole new fields of activities. His interests span a tremendous range of Lie theory, from differential geometry to representation theory, abstract algebra, and mathematical physics. It is striking to note that Lie theory (and symmetry in general) now occupies an ever increasing larger role in mathematics than it did in the fifties. Now in the sixth decade of his career, he continues to produce results of astonishing beauty and significance for which he is invited to lecture all over the world. This is the first volume (1955-1966) of a five-volume set of Bertram Kostant's collected papers. A distinguished feature of this first volume is Kostant's commentaries and summaries of his papers in his own words.
