The Glory of the Lord: A Theological Aesthetics, Vol. 1-Hans Urs von Balthasar 2009-01-01 The work opens with a critical review of developments in Protestant and Catholic Theology since the Reformation which have led to the steady neglect of aesthetics in Christian theology. From here, von Balthasar turns to the central theme of the volume: the question of theological knowledge. He re-examines the nature of Christian believing (here he quickly draws widely on such theological figures as Anselm, Pascal and Newman) which gives due place to the particular kind of 'knowing' which develops within the personal relationship to the believer to the God mediated through the revelation-form of Jesus Christ.

History of England from the Fall of Wolsey to the Death of Elizabeth-James Anthony Froude 1895
Expositions of the Psalms 1-32 (Vol. 1)-Saint Augustine 2000 This is the first volume of the long-awaited translation of one of Augustine's classics and a great work in Christian literature. Newly translated by Maria Boulding, O.S.B., whose masterful translation of Augustine's Confessions in the same series has been praised as being "of a different level of excellence from practically anything else in the market" (Bishop Rowan Williams, Monmouth, England). As the psalms are a microcosm of the Old Testament, so the Expositions of the Psalms can be seen as a microcosm of Augustinian thought. They recapitulate and focus the experiences of Augustine's personal life, his theological reflections, and his pastoral concerns as Bishop of Hippo. "This first volume of the Exposition of the Psalms in Sister Maria Boulding's fine translation fills a long existing vacuum among the translated works of Augustine available to contemporary readers. Her clear and attractive translation presents Augustine's expression of his own spirituality, which necessarily entails his most valuable theological insights. The comprehensive and scholarly 51-page introduction by Michael Fiedrowicz offers a key to the Psalms' various depths of meaning and shows how they are a microcosm of Augustinian thought." Mary T. Clark, RSCJ Author of: Augustine in the "Outstanding Christian Thinkers Series"

The New Cambridge Bibliography of English Literature: Volume 1, 600-1660-George Watson 1974-08-29 More than fifty specialists have contributed to this new edition of volume 1 of The Cambridge Bibliography of English Literature. The design of the original work has established itself so firmly as a workable solution to the immense problems of analysis, articulation and coordination that it has been retained in all its essentials for the new edition. The task of the new contributors has been to revise and integrate the lists of 1940 and 1957, to add materials of the following decade, to correct and refine the bibliographical details already available, and to re-shape the whole according to a new series of conventions devised to give greater clarity and consistency to the entries.

Income Tax in Common Law Jurisdictions: Volume 1, From the Origins to 1820-Peter Harris 2006-11-16 This book was first published in 2006. Many common law countries inherited British income tax rules. Whether the inheritance was direct or indirect, the rationale and origins of some of the central rules seem almost lost in history. Commonly, they are simply explained as being of British origin without more, but even in Britain the origins of some of these rules are less than clear. This book traces the roots of the income tax and its precursors in Britain and in its former colonies to 1820. Harris focuses on four issues that are central to common law income taxes and which are of particular current relevance: the capital/revenue distinction, the taxation of corporations, taxation on both a source and residence basis, and the schedular approach to taxation. He uses an historical perspective to make observations about the future direction of income tax in the modern world.

A History of the Doctrine of the Holy Eucharist: Volumes 1 & 2-Darwell Stone M.A. Some explanation may be needed of the history of this book, and of its relation to other writings of mine. For many years it was my duty constantly to lecture on Christian doctrine. In connection with my lectures, it was my custom to read as fully as circumstances permitted what has been written in different periods on the subjects which I had to treat, so that I might be able in lecturing to state briefly the salient points of the teaching of representative men and important times. In some cases this led to my forming lists of passages which seemed to be of special importance. One such list was in regard to the Eucharist. Aeterna Press
